Review of chapter marketing materials

- All materials are reviewed by the headquarters office
- Consistency of message
- Clear connection to The WICT Network's mission and professional development goals
- Allow three business days turnaround time
- Send electronic versions to chapters@wict.org

The WICT
Network

Empowering Women
in Media, Entertainment and Technology

Promoting programs

- Communicate the benefits that directly align with a company's business goals
- Offer value to both attendee and company
- Reflect The WICT Network's mission and Touchstones of Leadership

The WICT
Network
Empowering Women
in Media, Entertainment and Technology

Consider topics that resonate

- Know your audience
 - A few ideas:
 - Overcoming gender bias and enhancing credibility
 - Building resilience and leading through change
 - Adapting to new technologies
 - Remaining competitive in the marketplace
 - Keeping employee wellbeing front and center

The WICT
Network

Empowering Women
in Media, Entertainment and Technology

Promote business impact

- Choose a theme that expresses the business aspects, like “Proven Strategies for Future Success”
 - “Professional Networking” versus “Socializing or Wine Tasting”
 - “Symposium, Summit or Forum” versus “Breakfast, Lunch or Dinner”
 - “Personal Branding” versus “Dress for Success”
- Share the value of membership
- Use stories, photos and testimonials
- Incorporate join/renew instructions when appropriate

The WICT
Network
Empowering Women
in Media, Entertainment and Technology

Protecting member privacy

- General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)
- California Consumer Privacy Act
- The WICT Network Member Information Privacy Guidelines
- We never sell member data
- We do not sell advertising, so no data that we collect is shared with ad vendors

The WICT
Network
Empowering Women
in Media, Entertainment and Technology

Engaging members through social media & newsletters

- Have a presence where your members are
- Establish clear objectives and define a strategy
- Maintain multiple avenues of communication
- Use common sense – branding and messaging are still important
 - Posting frequency
- Track your results

December 2023

The WICT Network strives to empower women in media, entertainment and technology. We help organizations build a stronger pipeline of women leaders to guide our industry into the future. We do this by providing unparalleled professional development programs, commissioning original gender research, and supporting a B2B network that advances women.

The @WICT e-newsletter, exclusive to WICT members, consolidates our top social media posts measured by impact into an easy-to-read format that we send directly to your inbox. This month we're pleased to provide you with a look back at the most-viewed selections from 2023.

If your company is interested in sponsoring @WICT, please contact Cindy Key.

The membership year ends on December 31.
Stay tuned for renewal information in January 2024!

2023 Year in Review:

Top 10 Social Media Posts from The WICT Network's LinkedIn Feed

In this special end-of-year edition of @WICT, we relive highlights from 2023 by revisiting some of our most popular social media posts.

#10: "Our inaugural Rising Leaders Programme International (RLP) was a success! Scoring a 5/5 on evaluations, participants found the experience to be "motivating and ambitious," "well organised," - and several participants stated it "exceeded all expectations." Wow! A huge shoutout to the amazing leaders who joined us from October 16-20, 2023, in London. RLP International brought together a cohort of women leaders from five countries and six companies. Stay tuned to hear more about our global offerings in 2024! #RisingLeaders #RLPInternational"

TOP STORY

Research Concludes That Organizations with High-Trust Cultures are More Agile and Engaging with Teams.

The WICT Network is dedicated to promoting diversity and inclusion by sharing industry data and raising awareness. Discover how "Fostering a Culture of Innovation and Organizational Leadership" by The Clemmer Group emphasizes the importance of cultivating a culture of learning and innovation for success. To truly excel, we need open internal networks and a trust-based approach that sees mistakes as learning opportunities.
